General Comment

I like many am disabled but not in the way you usually think of disabled people. I dislocate easily and my heart changes fast. I faint I fall apart I just don't know when. I need to be driven places. I get confused if I have to sit upright for long period time. I need to bite from home to make proper decisions. I cannot get myself to a location. Even if I could I have a decent chance of needing help once I am there.
